

Numbers 13:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

Analysis

Among the spies sent was 'Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh.' Caleb's tribal affiliation with Judah is significant - Judah led Israel's march (Num 2:9, 10:14) and would produce the Messianic line. Caleb's faith distinguished him as worthy of Judah's leadership role. Interestingly, he's called a Kenizzite elsewhere (Num 32:12, Josh 14:6, 14), suggesting Gentile ancestry integrated into Judah, foreshadowing believing Gentiles' inclusion in God's people. His name means 'dog' or 'wholehearted,' fitting his character. That Judah's representative showed greatest faith points to the Lion of Judah, Jesus Christ, the ultimate faithful one from this tribe.

Historical Context

Caleb became one of only two from his generation (with Joshua) to enter Canaan, receiving Hebron as inheritance forty-five years later (Josh 14:6-15). His Kenizzite connection (descendants of Esau's grandson Kenaz, Gen 36:11, 15) indicates that Edom's descendants could join Israel through faith - God's covenant people included believing foreigners. Caleb's selection as Judah's tribal leader shows his acceptance and honor among Israelites despite non-Israelite ancestry. His faith and courage became legendary, referenced repeatedly as exemplar of wholehearted devotion to God (Num 14:24, 32:12, Deut 1:36, Josh 14:8-9, 14).
