

Numbers 14:25

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

(Now the Amalekites and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley.)
To morrow turn you, and get you into the wilderness by the way of the Red sea.

Analysis

God commands Israel to turn back toward the Red Sea, retracing steps already taken. This humiliating retreat was a direct consequence of unbelief—they forfeited forward progress and must return to where they began. Disobedience doesn't merely delay God's blessings; it often requires retracing steps and starting over.

Historical Context

The Red Sea route meant heading back toward Egypt rather than forward to Canaan. This generation that wanted to return to Egypt (14:3-4) would indeed go that direction, though not as they imagined. They would wander in the wilderness between Canaan and Egypt until they died.
