

Numbers 16:9

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Seemeth it but a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near to himself to do the service of the tabernacle of the LORD, and to stand before the congregation to minister unto them?

Analysis

Moses' rhetorical question highlighted the privilege already granted: separated from the congregation to draw near to God, serve in the tabernacle, minister to the people. This inventory of blessings exposed the ingratitude underlying their complaint. Rebellion often begins not with lack of blessing but with unthankfulness for blessings received.

Historical Context

Being 'brought near' expressed special favor—the Levites had access and service other Israelites lacked. Their duties included caring for the tabernacle, assisting priests, and teaching the people (Deuteronomy 33:10). They enjoyed both spiritual privilege and material provision (Numbers 18), yet they craved more.
