

Numbers 18:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they shall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the service of the tabernacle: and a stranger shall not come nigh unto you.

Analysis

The Levites 'shall be joined unto thee' for service, but 'a stranger shall not come nigh unto you.' This exclusivity protected God's ordained order. While the gospel eventually opens access to all believers as 'royal priesthood' (1 Peter 2:9), Old Covenant structures taught that approaching God requires proper authorization. New Testament access came through Christ's priestly work, not human presumption.

Historical Context

The word 'stranger' (zar) meant non-Levites, including most Israelites. Even within the covenant community, not everyone had equal access to holy things. This prefigured that ultimate access to God would require a specific mediator—Jesus Christ, our great High Priest.

Study Questions

1. How does Old Testament restricted access help you appreciate New Covenant boldness before God's throne?
2. What role does Christ's priesthood play in your daily confidence before God?
