

Numbers 2:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then the tribe of Benjamin: and the captain of the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Gideoni.

Analysis

Benjamin's camp placement with Joseph's sons (Ephraim and Manasseh) joined Rachel's two sons in one division, honoring her memory and maintaining family solidarity. Benjamin's loyalty to Judah in later generations (1 Kings 12:21) showed how early associations and family ties influenced later alliances. The principle extends broadly: early relationships and associations shape later loyalties and decisions.

Historical Context

Benjamin's placement in the Ephraim division created bonds that would later manifest in complex ways—sometimes allied with northern Ephraim, sometimes loyal to southern Judah, reflecting the tribe's transitional position geographically and politically.

Study Questions

1. How does Benjamin's family alliance with Ephraim yet later loyalty to Judah illustrate the complexity of relationships and loyalties in God's people?
2. What does this teach us about the formative influence of early associations on later commitments?
