

Numbers 21:24

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and possessed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was strong.

Analysis

Israel smote him with the edge of the sword (לְפִי-חֶרֶב, le-fi-charev, literally "by the mouth of the sword")—Israel's first major conquest fulfilled God's promise to give them victory. And possessed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok—This territory, roughly 60 miles north-south, became the inheritance of Reuben, Gad, and half of Manasseh (Numbers 32). Even unto the children of Ammon marks Israel's restraint—they took only what God designated, respecting Ammon's boundary (Deuteronomy 2:19).

Conquest with limits demonstrates that Israel's warfare wasn't ethnic cleansing but covenantal obedience. They fought where God commanded, stopped where He restricted. This sets biblical holy war apart from human imperialism—God's boundaries, not human ambition, defined the campaign.

Historical Context

The Arnon-to-Jabbok territory encompassed the Moabite plateau and Gilead's southern portion. Archaeological evidence shows late Bronze Age destruction layers at several sites in this region, consistent with conquest dating. This land remained Israelite until the Assyrian invasions (8th century BC).
