

Numbers 22:34

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Balaam said unto the angel of the LORD, I have sinned; for I knew not that thou stoodest in the way against me: now therefore, if it displease thee, I will get me back again.

Analysis

Balaam confesses to the angel 'I have sinned; for I knew not that thou stoodest in the way against me: now therefore, if it displease thee, I will get me back again.' The conditional 'if it displease thee' reveals incomplete repentance—true contrition doesn't offer to obey only if God still objects. Balaam sought permission to continue despite acknowledging sin, showing how confession without heart change manipulates grace.

Historical Context

The angel permitted Balaam to continue (v.35) while reinforcing restrictions, testing whether Balaam would honor limitations. Balaam's subsequent attempt to find ways to curse Israel (through causing them to sin, 31:16) proved his confession was lip service, not genuine repentance.

1. How does conditional obedience ('if You still object') reveal uncommitted hearts beneath confessions?
2. What's the difference between confessing sin and genuinely repenting of the desires behind it?
