

Numbers 25:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they called the people unto the sacrifices of their gods:
and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods.

Analysis

The Moabite women 'called the people unto the sacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods.' Social connection led to religious compromise led to full idolatry. This progression illustrates how seemingly innocent association can draw believers into serious sin. Sexual attraction combined with cultural participation lowered defenses against idolatrous worship.

Historical Context

These 'sacrifices' likely included meals eaten before idols (1 Corinthians 10:20-21 addresses similar practice). Eating food offered to idols expressed fellowship with demons. This incident became proverbial warning for New Testament church facing similar temptations (Revelation 2:14).
