

Numbers 34:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

These are the names of the men which shall divide the land unto you: Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun.

Analysis

God designates those who 'shall divide the land unto you: Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun.' The combination of priest (Eleazar) and leader (Joshua) ensured both spiritual and practical oversight in land distribution. The Hebrew 'nachal' (divide/inherit) indicates apportioning tribal inheritances by divine lot. This partnership of priestly and governmental leadership typified Israel's theocracy - God ruled through appointed mediators. Christ combines both offices perfectly - our great High Priest and coming King, ensuring perfect distribution of spiritual inheritance to believers. The church similarly has spiritual leaders and administrators, both gifts from Christ (Eph 4:11-12).

Historical Context

Eleazar succeeded his father Aaron as high priest (Num 20:25-28). Joshua, Moses' successor, led military conquest. Together they oversaw land distribution using Urim and Thummim for casting lots (Josh 14-19). This ensured fair, divinely-directed distribution preventing favoritism or conflict. The tribal princes (v.18-28) represented each tribe in the process, providing accountability and acceptance. Moses gave these instructions on Moab's plains before his death (v.1), ensuring orderly transition. The system demonstrated that godly governance requires both spiritual insight (priestly) and practical leadership (governmental), anticipating Christ's combined offices and church leadership's diverse gifts working together.
