

Numbers 34:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the son of Jogli.

Analysis

And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the son of Jogli— Dan's appointed representative (Bukki the son of Jogli) ensures fair land distribution for his tribe. The specific naming of all tribal leaders demonstrates Scripture's historical precision—these weren't generic placeholders but actual historical figures overseeing the monumental task of allocating Promised Land according to divine direction.

Dan's prince oversees allocation of tribal territory, though Dan later migrates north seeking additional land. This comprehensive listing shows that God's covenant faithfulness extends to every tribe—none were overlooked or shortchanged in the inheritance process. The New Testament similarly teaches that Christ's church includes every tribe and tongue: 'You have redeemed us to God by Your blood out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation' (Revelation 5:9).

Historical Context

These tribal representatives worked alongside Joshua and Eleazar (34:17) during Canaan's 7-year conquest and division period. Each leader bore responsibility for ensuring his tribe received appropriate allocation according to Numbers 26's census—larger tribes received more territory, smaller tribes less (26:52-56), but all received sufficient inheritance for sustainable tribal existence.

Related Passages

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Romans 2:1 — Judging others

Study Questions

1. How does God's appointment of representatives for every tribe demonstrate His commitment to comprehensive, inclusive covenant faithfulness?
2. What does the careful naming of each leader teach about Scripture's historical reliability and God's concern for individual persons, not just generic groups?
3. How can you ensure that administrative processes in church or ministry honor both efficiency and inclusivity, making sure no group is overlooked or underserved?

Interlinear Text

וְלֹמַט הַ	בָּנָי	וְלֹא	בֶּן יַעֲשֵׂה	בְּקָר בָּנָי	בָּנָי	בְּקָר בָּנָי
of the tribe	of the children	of Dan	And the prince	Bukki	of the children	of Jogli
H4294	H1121	H1835	H5387	H1231	H1121	H3020

From KJV Study • kjvstudy.org