

Numbers 7:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they brought their offering before the LORD, six covered wagons, and twelve oxen; a wagon for two of the princes, and for each one an ox: and they brought them before the tabernacle.

Analysis

The princes' offering of six covered wagons and twelve oxen demonstrates generous, coordinated giving for God's work. These were not token gifts but substantial, practical resources for transporting the tabernacle. The covered wagons protected the sacred items from weather and dust. The Reformed principle of proportionate giving is evident—these were leaders giving according to their capacity. Two princes per wagon shows partnership in service, reflecting that God's work is often best accomplished through cooperation rather than individual heroism.

Historical Context

These princes (tribal leaders) brought offerings on the day Moses finished erecting the tabernacle and anointing it. Their gifts met a real need—the Levites required transportation for the heavy tabernacle components during Israel's wilderness wanderings. The wagons would be distributed according to the weight of each Levitical clan's burden.
