

Numbers 7:41

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And for a sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he goats, five lambs of the first year: this was the offering of Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

Analysis

The peace offerings of two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five lambs provided abundant provision for fellowship meals. The specific number five (repeated three times) may symbolize grace—God's gracious provision for fellowship with His people. These offerings were not grudging obligations but generous expressions of gratitude and celebration. The abundance reflects the generous heart that grace produces. The Reformed understanding that grace enables generous living is demonstrated in these lavish peace offerings.

Historical Context

Peace offerings were eaten joyfully in the tabernacle courtyard, creating a connection between worship and celebration, between sacrifice and feast. These meals built community relationships while celebrating divine-human reconciliation. The joy of these feasts anticipated the eternal feast of the Lamb.
