

Numbers 7:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Take it of them, that they may be to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his service.

Analysis

Moses receiving the wagons and oxen to distribute to the Levites shows proper ecclesiastical authority in handling gifts for ministry. The phrase 'every man according to his service' establishes the principle of distributing resources based on actual need and function. Not all received equally, but all received appropriately. This demonstrates the Reformed understanding that gifts are tools for service, not status symbols. Equity doesn't mean identical distribution but appropriate allocation according to calling.

Historical Context

The Levitical clans had different burdens—the Merarites carried the heaviest items (boards and sockets), while the Kohathites carried the sacred furniture. The distribution of transportation resources would reflect these different needs, with the Merarites receiving more wagons and the Kohathites possibly receiving none since they carried sacred objects on their shoulders.
