

Obadiah 1:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For thy violence against thy brother Jacob shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

Analysis

God specifies Edom's crime: "For thy violence against thy brother Jacob shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever." Edom's sin was "violence against thy brother"—Jacob and Esau were twin brothers (Genesis 25:24-26), making Israel and Edom kindred nations. Deuteronomy 23:7 commanded: "Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite; for he is thy brother." Yet Edom violated this kinship through violence. The punishment: "shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off forever." Shame replaces pride; permanent destruction replaces presumed security. This teaches that betraying covenant relationships constitutes especially heinous sin—greater knowledge and closer relationship increase accountability (Luke 12:47-48). Edom knew their kinship but chose hostility.

Historical Context

Edom's hostility stretched from Moses's time (refusing Israel passage—Numbers 20:14-21) through monarchy (various conflicts) culminating in celebrating Jerusalem's fall. Psalm 137:7 captures Jewish anguish: "Remember, O LORD, the children of Edom in the day of Jerusalem; who said, Rase it, rase it." This sustained malice despite kinship particularly provoked God's judgment. The phrase "cut off forever" was fulfilled—Edom disappeared from history, a warning that God keeps His word.
