

Philippians 1:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.

Analysis

And many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear (καὶ τοὺς πλείονας τῶν ἀδελφῶν ἐν κυρίῳ πεποιθότας τοῖς δεσμοῖς μου, kai tous pleionas tōn adelphōn en kyriō pepoithotas tois desmois mou)—Pleionas ("the majority, more") suggests most Roman Christians were emboldened, though vv. 15-17 show mixed motives. Pepoithotas (perfect participle of peithō, "persuade") indicates settled confidence gained by my bonds (τοῖς δεσμοῖς μου, tois desmois mou, dative of means).

Paul's courageous suffering inspired courage. Much more bold to speak the word without fear (περισσοτέρως τολμᾶν ἀφόβως τὸν λόγον λαλεῖν, perissoterōs tolman aphobōs ton logon lalein)—tolman ("to dare, have courage") and aphobōs ("fearlessly") emphasize boldness. If the apostle fearlessly proclaimed Christ while chained, how could they stay silent while free? Faithful suffering catalyzes others' faithfulness.

Historical Context

Nero's persecution of Christians began around AD 64 (after Rome's fire), but even before official persecution, Christian confession carried social and legal risks. Paul's imprisonment under Nero's reign heightened danger. Yet rather than silencing the church, his example galvanized it. This pattern—martyr's blood as seed of the church—became a Christian distinctive.

Study Questions

1. Whose faithful suffering has emboldened your witness, and how did it change you?
2. How does your response to hardship either inspire or discourage other believers?
3. What fears keep you from bold gospel proclamation that Paul's example should eliminate?
