

Philippians 1:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.

Analysis

---

For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ (μάρτυς γάρ μου ὁ θεὸς ὡς ἐπιποθῶ πάντας ὑμᾶς, martys gar mou ho theos hōs epipothō pantas hymas)—Paul invokes God as witness (martys) to his internal affection, following ancient oath patterns. Epipothō ("I long for, yearn for") expresses intense desire, the same verb used of deer panting for water (Ps 42:1 LXX).

In the bowels of Jesus Christ (ἐν σπλάγχνοις Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ, en splanchnois Christou Iēsou)—Splanchna (literally "intestines, inward parts") metaphorically signifies deep compassion and affection. Paul's longing is not mere human sentiment but Christ-shaped love; he loves the Philippians with Christ's own affections. This phrase reveals union with Christ produces Christlike emotions toward others—transformed affections, not just doctrine.

Historical Context

Ancient Mediterranean culture located emotions in bodily organs (heart, kidneys, bowels) rather than abstractly. Splanchna appears frequently in Philippians (1:8, 2:1) and Paul's letters as the seat of compassionate love. Invoking God as witness to emotions was serious—false oaths invited divine judgment. Paul's oath underscores the authenticity and intensity of his pastoral love.

Study Questions

1. What would it mean for you to love others 'in the bowels of Jesus Christ' rather than your own capacity?
2. How can we cultivate affections shaped by union with Christ, not just correct doctrine about Him?
3. Who could honestly say of you what Paul says here—that you long after them with Christlike compassion?
