

Proverbs 1:32

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For the turning away of the simple shall slay them, and the prosperity of fools shall destroy them.

Analysis

The turning away (meshuvah - apostasy, backsliding) of the simple slays them, and the prosperity (shalvah - ease, carelessness) of fools destroys them. Success without wisdom proves fatal - prosperity breeds complacency, which breeds destruction. This paradox warns that worldly success can be spiritually lethal, producing false security that prevents seeking God. Reformed theology recognizes prosperity as potential snare; only grace prevents success from producing spiritual ruin.

Historical Context

Reflects the pattern seen throughout Israel's history - prosperity led to complacency, which led to idolatry and covenant violation. The judges cycle repeatedly demonstrated this principle.
