

Proverbs 1:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother:

Analysis

Father and mother both bear responsibility for covenant instruction, reflecting the family's role as primary discipleship context. The Hebrew imperative 'hear' demands active obedience, not passive listening. This anticipates Ephesians 6:1-4, where parental authority is delegated from God and exercised under His lordship.

Historical Context

In ancient Israel, both parents taught children Torah and wisdom, unlike surrounding cultures where mothers' instruction was often devalued. This egalitarian approach to parental teaching reflected Israel's covenant distinctiveness.
