

Proverbs 10:32

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh frowardness.

Analysis

The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable, but the mouth of the wicked speaks frowardness. The righteous possess discernment about appropriate speech - knowing what, when, and how to speak. The wicked speak perverseness habitually. This knowledge isn't merely intellectual but practical wisdom applied to communication. Such discernment flows from wisdom rooted in the fear of God.

Historical Context

Concludes Proverbs 10 by returning to speech ethics theme introduced in v.11. Ancient oral culture particularly valued skill in appropriate speech as essential wisdom.
