

Proverbs 11:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion.

Analysis

As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman without discretion. The striking image presents incongruity - precious jewelry adorning a filthy animal. External beauty without moral discretion (ta'am - taste, judgment) is similarly incongruous and wasted. Beauty should accompany wisdom; without it, physical attractiveness is absurd. This verse subordinates external beauty to internal character.

Historical Context

Pigs were unclean animals in Israel, making the imagery especially vivid. The proverb addressed cultural tendency to value female beauty above character.
