

Proverbs 11:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The righteousness of the perfect shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness.

Analysis

The righteousness of the perfect directs his way, but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness. Perfect (tamim - complete, blameless) righteousness provides guidance like a compass directing the path. Conversely, wickedness causes self-destruction - 'fall by his own wickedness' emphasizes that evil is self-sabotaging. Righteousness produces flourishing; wickedness produces ruin. The verse refutes the lie that wickedness leads anywhere but destruction.

Historical Context

Continues covenant theology's emphasis on righteousness producing blessing, wickedness producing curse. The principle applied both individually and nationally throughout Israel's history.
