

Proverbs 17:25

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

A foolish son is a grief to his father, and bitterness to her that bare him.

Analysis

A foolish son is a grief to his father, and bitterness to her that bare him. This proverb echoes earlier ones (10:1, 15:20, 17:21), emphasizing parental heartbreak over foolish children. Ka'as le'aviv (כַּעַס לְאָבִיו, vexation to his father)—ka'as means grief, sorrow, vexation. Umemer leyoladto (וּמָמֶר לִיְלֹדֶתוֹ, and bitterness to her who bore him)—memer describes bitter sorrow. Mothers who bore children in pain experience bitter grief when those children choose folly. The repeated emphasis shows how seriously Proverbs takes this issue. Parents should teach diligently; children should pursue wisdom to honor parents and God.

Historical Context

Childbearing in ancient times carried significant mortality risk. Mothers invested physical suffering, years of nurture, hopes and dreams into children. When those children pursued folly, it brought bitter grief. Biblical examples include Rebekah's grief over Esau's wives (Genesis 26:34-35), Isaac and Rebekah's heartbreak over Jacob and Esau's conflict, Eli's anguish over his sons (1 Samuel 2:12-17). The proverb urged children toward wisdom that honors sacrificial parental love.
