

Proverbs 20:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The just man walketh in his integrity: his children are blessed after him.

Analysis

The just walk in integrity, leaving a heritage of blessing for their children. Righteousness has generational impact—children blessed by parents' godly example and reputation. This demonstrates covenant theology's emphasis on God's promises extending to believers' households.

Historical Context

Israelite culture understood identity corporately—one's actions affected the entire family's status. A righteous father's legacy provided social, spiritual, and material advantages to descendants.
