

Proverbs 27:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and take a pledge of him for a strange woman.

Analysis

Take his garment that is surety for a stranger—This legal advice warns against careless financial guarantees. Hebrew ‘ārab (עָרָב, surety) means pledging oneself for another's debt. Take a pledge (hābal, חָבֵל) means seize collateral. For a strange woman (nokrîyâ, נָקְרִיָּה) may refer to a foreigner or adulteress—both suggesting foolish judgment.

This verse (repeated in 20:16) protects lenders from those with poor judgment. Someone willing to guarantee debts for unknown strangers or immoral relationships lacks discernment. The New Testament echoes this caution about hasty suretyship (Proverbs 6:1-5, 11:15), while Christ's substitutionary atonement inverts it—He became surety for His people (Hebrews 7:22).

Historical Context

Ancient credit systems relied on personal guarantees and collateral. Taking someone's garment as pledge was regulated by Mosaic law (Exodus 22:26-27). Debt slavery was real, making reckless financial commitments potentially disastrous for entire families.
