

Proverbs 29:1

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

He, that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy.

Analysis

One 'often reproved' who 'hardeneth his neck shall suddenly be destroyed without remedy.' The Hebrew 'toka'chot' (reproofs) and 'qashah oref' (hardens neck—stubborn) describe persistent rebellion despite correction. The judgment is sudden and final—'peta' (suddenly) and 'ein marpe' (no healing/remedy). This warns that God's patience has limits. Repeated rejection of correction leads to judgment beyond healing. Reformed theology sees this in final impenitence and hardening. Hebrews 3:7-8 warns: 'To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.'

Historical Context

Israel's history demonstrated this: repeated prophetic warnings preceded exile with 'no remedy' (2 Chronicles 36:16). Pharaoh's hardened heart led to destruction. God's patience is real but not infinite.
