

Proverbs 29:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words? there is more hope of a fool than of him.

Analysis

Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words?—The interrogative 'seest thou' (chazita) demands observation. The ish ats be'devarav (man hasty in his words) speaks impulsively without reflection. The verdict is devastating: there is more hope of a fool than of him.

This surpasses even the kesil (fool) in hopelessness. James 1:19 echoes: 'Be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath.' Proverbs repeatedly condemns rash speech: 'In the multitude of words there wanteth not sin' (10:19), 'He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him' (18:13). Verbal restraint demonstrates wisdom; impulsive speech reveals lack of self-control and invites calamity.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern wisdom valued measured speech. Court advisors who spoke hastily before kings risked execution. Israel's sages taught that words have power to build or destroy (Proverbs 18:21). The New Testament expands this: Jesus warns we'll give account for 'every idle word' (Matthew 12:36), and the tongue is 'a fire, a world of iniquity' (James 3:6).
