

Proverbs 4:26

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established.

Analysis

Pondering the path involves careful deliberation about life's direction. The Hebrew 'palles' (ponder) means to make level or balanced, suggesting thoughtful evaluation of one's course. Established ways demonstrate consistent, habitual righteousness, not merely occasional obedience—this is the fruit of progressive sanctification.

Historical Context

Levitical priests used similar language for careful examination (Leviticus 13). Moral self-examination required the same rigorous assessment to ensure one walked in God's ways.
