

Proverbs 6:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

A naughty person, a wicked man, walketh with a froward mouth.

Analysis

---

A naughty person, a wicked man, walks with a froward mouth. The 'naughty person' (adam beliya'al - worthless person, scoundrel) is characterized by perverse speech. Beliya'al suggests moral worthlessness, one who brings no benefit to society. Such persons spread corruption through deceitful words. The verse identifies corrupt speech as defining characteristic of worthless individuals - what they say reveals what they are.

Historical Context

The term beliya'al later becomes personified as Belial, almost a proper name for wickedness personified. In ancient Israel, such worthless individuals disrupted community peace through slander and deception.
