

Proverbs 6:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

He winketh with his eyes, he speaketh with his feet, he teacheth with his fingers;

Analysis

The worthless person winks with eyes, signals with feet, points with fingers - bodily communication of deceit. The Hebrew 'beliyaal' (worthlessness/wickedness) describes moral corruption. The threefold physical description (eyes, feet, fingers) indicates comprehensive bodily involvement in deception. Speech can be guarded, but body language reveals heart intent. Deceitful people employ subtle signals to co-conspirators while maintaining plausible deniability.

Historical Context

Ancient honor-shame cultures heightened awareness of non-verbal communication. Winking, gesturing, and body positioning communicated volumes. Modern Western cultures, being more verbally explicit, may miss these subtleties. Yet deception still employs bodily signals - eye contact avoidance, nervous gestures, defensive postures reveal hidden truth.
