

Psalms 103:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Bless the LORD, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word.

Analysis

Angels 'excel in strength' and 'do his commandments,' serving as perfect models of obedient service. They 'hearken unto the voice of his word,' responding immediately to God's instructions. This angelic obedience challenges believers to similar responsiveness. The Reformed emphasis on God's glory recognizes that all creation, including angels, exists to serve and glorify Him. Christ, superior to angels (Heb 1:4), commissions angels to serve believers (Heb 1:14), demonstrating the dignity of redeemed humanity.

Historical Context

Angels in Hebrew thought were powerful spiritual beings serving as God's messengers and agents. Israel understood them as part of God's heavenly court, executing His will throughout creation.
