

Psalm 105:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

He hath remembered his covenant for ever, the word which he commanded to a thousand generations.

Analysis

God remembers His covenant 'for ever' and His word to 'a thousand generations.' Divine memory, unlike human forgetting, is eternally faithful. The covenant made with one generation binds God to all subsequent generations. 'Thousand generations' is hyperbolic, emphasizing perpetual faithfulness. This grounds assurance in God's character, not human merit. Christ's blood established a new covenant (Luke 22:20) that will never be broken. The Reformed emphasis on God's covenant faithfulness provides believers' ultimate security.

Historical Context

God's covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob formed the basis of Israel's relationship with God. This verse assures that God's memory and faithfulness surpass human generations infinitely.
