

Psalm 107:9

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

Analysis

This verse explains what God's 'wonderful works' (v. 8) include. 'For he satisfieth the longing soul' uses shaqaq (שָׁקַע), meaning panting or longing soul—deep, desperate desire. God satisfies this thirst. 'And filleth the hungry soul with goodness' uses male (מָלֵא), to fill full. God doesn't partially satisfy but completely fills with His goodness (tov, טוב). This declares God's sufficiency—He fully satisfies spiritual hunger and thirst. Jesus applied this to Himself: He is the bread of life; whoever comes will never hunger or thirst (John 6:35). Only God can satisfy the soul's deepest longings; everything else leaves emptiness.

Historical Context

Israel's wilderness experience proved God satisfies: He provided manna and water, sustaining 2 million people for 40 years. For returning exiles, God satisfied their longing for home. Spiritually, this testifies that God alone satisfies the human soul, created for relationship with Him. Augustine's famous quote captures this: 'Thou hast made us for Thyself, and our hearts are restless until they find their rest in Thee.'
