

Psalm 119:122

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Be surety for thy servant for good: let not the proud oppress me.

Analysis

Be surety for thy servant for good (עֲרֵב עֲבֵדֶךָ לְטוֹב, arov avdekha l'tov)—The verb arav means to stand as guarantor or pledge security, used of Judah's surety for Benjamin (Gen 43:9). The psalmist asks God Himself to become his bondsman against oppressors—a bold request fulfilled in Christ, who became surety of the better covenant (Heb 7:22).

Let not the proud oppress me (זָדִים, zedim)—The proud/arrogant ones who presumptuously violate God's law. This echoes v. 51, 69, 78, 85—a recurring threat throughout the psalm, representing those who reject divine authority.

Historical Context

The concept of surety was well-established in ancient Near Eastern legal practice. In Israel's covenant framework, asking God to be surety inverts the typical pattern—instead of humans guaranteeing obligations to God, God guarantees protection for His faithful servant.
