

Psalms 119:126

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

It is time for thee, LORD, to work: for they have made void thy law.

Analysis

It is time for thee, LORD, to work (עַתָּה לַעֲשׂוֹת לַיהוָה, et la'asot l'YHWH)—A bold declaration that divine intervention is overdue. The construction can mean 'time for YHWH to act' or 'time to act for YHWH's sake.' Either reading calls for God to vindicate His own name and covenant.

They have made void thy law (הִפְּרוּ תוֹרַתְךָ, heferu toratekha)—The verb parar means to break, frustrate, nullify. God's torah (instruction/law) is being systematically violated. When lawlessness abounds (Matt 24:12), God's people cry for His intervention. Jesus cleansed the temple with similar outrage (John 2:17).

Historical Context

This verse may reflect periods when Israel's leaders ignored or actively suppressed God's law—during wicked kings' reigns (Manasseh), or when Ezra discovered the law had been forgotten (Neh 8). The Maccabean period also saw systematic attempts to abolish Torah observance.

Study Questions

1. In an age when God's law is increasingly 'made void' in society, how should believers cry out for divine intervention?
2. Does this verse justify righteous anger when God's Word is violated and mocked?
3. How do you discern when to patiently endure wickedness versus boldly calling for God to act?
