

Psalms 119:76

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindness be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy servant.

Analysis

Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindness be for my comfort (יְהִי־צָדֶקָתְךָ לְנַחֲמָנִי) —the petition opens with na (please), showing reverent boldness. Chesed (merciful kindness/covenant love) is the theological anchor—God's loyal love that never fails. Nachameni (comfort me) from nacham (to comfort, console) anticipates Isaiah's gospel proclamation: 'Comfort, comfort my people' (Isaiah 40:1).

According to thy word unto thy servant (כְּאָמְרָתְךָ לְעַבְדֶךָ) grounds the request: God has promised comfort in His imrah (word/utterance). The psalmist prays Scripture back to God—the quintessential model of biblical prayer. He claims covenant status (avdekha, thy servant) to plead covenant promises.

Historical Context

The Kaph (כ) section (vv. 81-88) depicts a sufferer clinging to promises amid persecution. The petition for chesed appears 248 times in the Old Testament, always denoting God's covenant faithfulness. To pray 'according to thy word' reflects confidence that God binds Himself to His promises.
