

Psalm 121:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The LORD shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul.

Analysis

YHWH yishmarekha mikol ra, yishmor et naphshekha (The LORD shall preserve you from all evil, He shall preserve your soul). Shamar (preserve/keep/guard) appears twice, emphasizing divine protection. Mikol ra (from all evil/harm) is comprehensive—no qualifier, no exception. Nephesh (soul/life/self) indicates the whole person—not just physical safety but spiritual preservation. God's keeping extends beyond bodily protection to soul-guarding. This anticipates Jesus's promise: "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul" (Matthew 10:28), and Paul's confidence: "the Lord...will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom" (2 Timothy 4:18).

Historical Context

Throughout Scripture, God's preservation includes both temporal deliverance (exodus, exile return, individual rescues) and ultimate salvation (eternal security). Job, despite losing everything, maintained faith: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15). Daniel and friends faced death repeatedly, trusting God whether He delivered them physically or not (Daniel 3:17-18). Martyrs through church history demonstrated that God's preservation of the soul surpasses physical preservation. Romans 8:28 promises all things work for good; Romans 8:35-39 insists nothing separates believers from God's love. Ultimate preservation matters more than temporal safety.

Study Questions

1. How does God's preservation of your "soul" (spiritual life) differ from mere physical protection?
2. What "evil" has God preserved you from that you may not even be aware of?
3. How can believers trust God's preserving care even when experiencing physical harm or loss?
