

Psalms 132:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For the LORD hath chosen Zion; he hath desired it for his habitation.

Analysis

---

God's choice of Zion is affirmed: 'For the LORD hath chosen Zion; he hath desired it for his habitation.' The word 'for' provides explanation for why the covenant stands - God has chosen Zion as His dwelling. The verb 'chosen' (bachar) emphasizes divine election - God selected Zion/Jerusalem from all locations. The parallel 'he hath desired it' uses love language (avah) meaning to crave, long for, delight in. God doesn't merely tolerate Zion but passionately desires it. The purpose 'for his habitation' (moshab) means dwelling place, seat, settlement - permanent residence, not temporary visit. This verse establishes theological foundation: Zion matters because God chose it. David's house and God's house are intertwined - Davidic covenant and Zion election are inseparable. God's commitment to Zion guarantees commitment to David's line.

Historical Context

God chose Zion/Jerusalem as permanent dwelling place for His name (Deuteronomy 12:5, 11; 1 Kings 8:29; 11:36; 14:21). While the temple was destroyed (586 BC), the site retained significance and was rebuilt. For Christians, Zion's significance transfers to the church and ultimately the heavenly Jerusalem (Hebrews 12:22-24; Revelation 21:2-3).
