

Psalms 132:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

This is my rest for ever: here will I dwell; for I have desired it.

Analysis

God's declaration of permanent residence: 'This is my rest for ever: here will I dwell; for I have desired it.' The emphatic 'this' points specifically to Zion. The phrase 'my rest for ever' (menucha ad) echoes verse 8's prayer - God answers by committing to eternal dwelling. 'Rest' implies settled, stable, permanent presence versus wandering (wilderness, ark's journey). The declaration 'here will I dwell' is straightforward commitment to location. The verb 'dwell' (yashab) means to sit, remain, inhabit - suggesting permanent settlement. The reason 'for I have desired it' reiterates verse 13 - God's choice flows from His desire/delight. This is remarkable - the transcendent God who created all things chooses to dwell permanently with His people in specific location. Divine presence among people is grace, not necessity.

Historical Context

This promise was fulfilled in Solomon's temple dedication when God's glory filled the house (1 Kings 8:10-11). Though temple was destroyed, God's presence returned to second temple (Haggai 2:7-9). For Christians, God dwells in Christ (John 1:14), the church (1 Corinthians 3:16; Ephesians 2:21-22), and ultimately new Jerusalem (Revelation 21:3).
