

Psalm 141:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.

Analysis

"Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice." The metaphor: tikon tefillati ketoret lefanekha (may be established my prayer as incense before You). Kun (be established/set forth) suggests placement; tefillah (prayer); ketoret (incense) was burned on the golden altar twice daily (Exodus 30:7-8, 34-38). Incense symbolized prayers ascending to God (Revelation 5:8, 8:3-4). Mas'at kapai minchat arev (the lifting of my hands, the evening offering). Nasa (lift up); kaph (palm of hand); minchah (grain offering/gift offering); erev (evening). Lifted hands expressed supplication, praise, surrender. The verse connects prayer with worship—prayer as spiritual sacrifice replacing physical offerings. Hebrews 13:15 similarly speaks of offering "the sacrifice of praise...the fruit of our lips."

Historical Context

The tabernacle/temple liturgy included twice-daily incense offerings (morning and evening) on the golden altar in the Holy Place (Exodus 30:7-8). The incense's fragrant smoke symbolized prayers ascending to God's throne. Only priests could offer incense, entering the Holy Place for this sacred duty. When Zacharias entered to burn incense, the angel Gabriel appeared announcing John's birth (Luke 1:8-22). Jesus's crucifixion occurred at the hour of evening sacrifice (3 PM). The tearing of the temple veil (Matthew 27:51) symbolized direct access to God through Christ's sacrifice. Believers became priests offering spiritual sacrifices (1 Peter 2:5, 9), with prayers as incense before God's throne.

Study Questions

1. How does viewing prayer as "incense" (sweet-smelling sacrifice) transform your prayer life?
2. What does it mean that believers now have direct access to offer prayers without earthly priests or altars?
3. In what ways should prayer be as regular and intentional as the twice-daily incense offerings?
