

Psalm 18:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.

Analysis

David calls on Yahweh who is 'worthy to be praised' and finds salvation from enemies. The Hebrew 'halal' (praised) means to boast or celebrate loudly. Calling on God in faith results in deliverance. This pattern—invocation, trust, salvation—appears throughout Scripture and anticipates Romans 10:13: 'everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.' Reformed theology sees effectual calling as God drawing us to cry out.

Historical Context

Written after experiencing multiple deliverances from mortal danger, establishing a pattern of prayer and divine rescue that built David's faith.
