

Psalm 22:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent.

Analysis

This cry of apparent divine absence captures the mystery of unanswered prayer and spiritual darkness. The tension between crying 'in the daytime' and 'in the night season' emphasizes unrelenting anguish. Reformed theology acknowledges that God sovereignly ordained Christ's abandonment on the cross (Matt. 27:46) to accomplish redemption. God's silence to the suffering Savior secured God's attentive hearing to believing sinners. This verse demonstrates that persistent prayer pleases God even when immediate answers don't come.

Historical Context

David likely wrote this during persecution, but the language transcends his experience, prophetically describing Christ's crucifixion. Jesus' quotation of verse 1 on the cross (Matt. 27:46) identifies Him as the ultimate Sufferer this psalm describes.
