

Psalm 22:27

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

Analysis

The vision expands to global proportions: 'all the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD.' This is explicit missiology—God's plan includes all nations. 'All the kindreds of the nations shall worship' anticipates the Great Commission and Revelation's multitude from every tribe and tongue (Rev. 7:9). Reformed theology sees this as God's eternal decree: Christ's suffering would purchase a people from all nations, fulfilling the Abrahamic promise that all families of earth would be blessed (Gen. 12:3).

Historical Context

Written in Israel's monarchical period when worship centered in Jerusalem, this verse prophesies a day when worship would transcend national and geographic boundaries. Pentecost and the church's missionary expansion fulfilled this vision.
