

Psalms 25:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee.

Analysis

The prayer 'Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee' expresses confidence that godly character provides protection. 'Integrity' (tom) means completeness/wholeness; 'uprightness' (yosher) means straightness/moral correctness. These are both divine gifts and human responsibilities. Reformed theology emphasizes that sanctification protects believers from many dangers—not mechanically, but providentially. God honors and preserves those whose character reflects His holiness. Waiting on God demonstrates faith that His timing is perfect.

Historical Context

Proverbs repeatedly teaches that wisdom and righteousness lead to life, while folly and wickedness lead to death. David experienced this—his integrity preserved him when deception would have brought ruin (1 Sam. 24-26).

Study Questions

1. How does integrity provide protection in ways dishonesty cannot?
2. What does 'waiting on God' require of you practically?
