

Psalm 25:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy lovingkindnesses; for they have been ever of old.

Analysis

The plea 'Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy lovingkindnesses' asks God to act according to His covenant character. 'Tender mercies' (rachamim) evokes the compassion of a parent; 'lovingkindnesses' (chasadim) refers to covenant loyalty. 'For they have been ever of old' grounds the petition in God's eternal, unchanging nature. Reformed theology emphasizes immutability: God's character doesn't change, so His past mercy guarantees future mercy toward His people. Prayer appeals to God's revealed character.

Historical Context

Israel's liturgy constantly rehearsed God's past mercies (Exodus, wilderness provision, conquest) to bolster faith for present needs. This practice of 'remembering' God's attributes anchored hope when circumstances looked hopeless.
