

Psalms 27:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Wait on the LORD: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the LORD.

Analysis

The doubled command "wait on the LORD...wait, I say" (קַבְּבֵחַ אֶל-יְהוָה קַבְּבֵחַ/qavveh el-YHWH qavveh) emphasizes urgency through repetition. "Wait" (קַבְּבֵחַ/qavah) means hope, expect, look eagerly for—active anticipation, not passive resignation. This isn't merely waiting for something to happen but trusting God's character and timing. "Be of good courage" (חַזָּק/chazaq) means be strong, resolute, determined—internal fortitude sustained by faith. The promise "he shall strengthen thine heart" uses the same root word (חַזָּק/chazaq), creating wordplay: be strong, and He will make you strong. Strength comes from waiting on God, not striving independently. This concludes a psalm expressing confidence amid danger, desire for God's presence, and trust in His deliverance.

Historical Context

David likely wrote this during persecution, possibly fleeing Saul or during Absalom's rebellion. The psalm references seeking God's face in His temple, suggesting it may date to his reign when Jerusalem's tabernacle was established. Ancient Israelite worship emphasized patient trust in God's timing—waiting for His deliverance rather than taking vengeance or control. This ethic contrasted with surrounding nations where might made right and immediate action was valued over patient faith.
