

Psalms 30:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

LORD, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong: thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

Analysis

The testimony 'LORD, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong: thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled' describes both God's establishing grace and disciplining withdrawal. Divine favor creates stability ('mountain stands strong'); divine disfavor creates crisis ('hid face... troubled'). Reformed theology sees sanctifying discipline—God sometimes withdraws felt presence to teach dependence. Prosperity depends entirely on His continued favor, not accumulated resources.

Historical Context

David's 'mountain' may refer to Jerusalem, his kingdom, or personal security. Whatever the mountain, its stability depended on God's favor. When God hid His face (withdrew felt presence), security evaporated. This taught humility.
