

Psalms 38:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

They also that seek after my life lay snares for me: and they that seek my hurt speak mischievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.

Analysis

They also that seek after my life lay snares for me: and they that seek my hurt speak mischievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.

Isolation (v.11) escalates to active hostility—enemies seek my life (שׁוֹכְלֵי נַפְשִׁי, baqash nephesh, hunt the soul), lay snares (שׁוֹקֵשׁ מִוְקֵשׁ, naqash moqesh, set traps), speak mischievous things (הַוֹּת, havvot, calamities/ruin), and imagine deceits (מְרִמֹּת, mirmot, treacheries).

David's weakness emboldens adversaries. The hunter imagery (snares, traps) depicts calculated malice. The progression: physical speech ('speak') → mental scheming ('imagine') → continual plotting ('all day long'). This echoes Absalom's conspiracy (2 Samuel 15-17) and prefigures plots against Christ (Matthew 26:4). When God's discipline weakens us, Satan's agents often attack.

Historical Context

Ancient near eastern politics were ruthless—weakness invited coup attempts. If David's illness was publicly known, rivals would exploit it. Absalom's rebellion began by undermining David's reputation (2 Samuel 15:2-6). The 'snares' and 'deceits' suggest court intrigue, not open warfare—assassination plots, false accusations, power grabs.
