

Psalm 45:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And in thy majesty ride prosperously because of truth and meekness and righteousness; and thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

Analysis

The king rides prosperously 'because of truth and meekness and righteousness.' These virtues--truth, meekness, and righteousness--characterize the ideal ruler. His 'right hand shall teach thee terrible things,' indicating that justice, not mere power, guides his warfare. The king fights for moral causes, not mere conquest.

Historical Context

This verse distinguishes Israel's ideal king from typical ancient Near Eastern despots who fought for expansion and plunder. The Davidic king was to embody covenant virtues and execute justice.
