

Psalms 50:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But unto the wicked God saith, What hast thou to do to declare my statutes, or that thou shouldest take my covenant in thy mouth?

Analysis

The shift to the wicked: 'But unto the wicked God saith, What hast thou to do to declare my statutes, or that thou shouldest take my covenant in thy mouth?' The wicked person recites God's laws and claims covenant relationship, but their behavior contradicts their profession. Religious talk without righteous life is condemned.

Historical Context

This addresses religious hypocrisy--using correct vocabulary while living contradictory lives. The prophets frequently condemned this disconnect between profession and practice.
