

Psalms 53:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

There were they in great fear, where no fear was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that encampeth against thee: thou hast put them to shame, because God hath despised them.

Analysis

The coming terror: 'There were they in great fear, where no fear was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that encampeth against thee.' Sudden, unexpected judgment produces terror among those who thought themselves secure. 'No fear was' indicates their false confidence. God scatters their bones--image of complete defeat and dishonor.

Historical Context

The scattering of bones meant no proper burial, the ultimate disgrace in ancient culture. This may reference specific historical deliverances where confident enemies suddenly panicked.
